

JOHN R. WALSH FINALLY NABBED

Ex-Banker of Chicago Taken Into Custody for Making False and Fraudulent Returns.

GIVES BOND OF $50,000

ORDER OF ARREST COMES FROM WASHINGTON.

Chicago, March 2.—John R. Walsh, president of the defunct Chicago National bank, which closed its doors Dec. 18, 1905, was today taken into custody on a federal warrant which charges him with violation of the national banking laws in making false returns to the controller of the currency and also asserts that he converted to his own use without proper authority funds of the bank amounting to $3,000,000. He was released after giving bonds of $50,000.

Specific Charges.
The complaint alleges in specific terms that on Nov. 18, 1905, the Chicago National bank transmitted to the controller of the currency a statement of the financial condition of the bank at the close of business on Nov. 9. In this statement "the said John R. Walsh unlawfully made certain false entries to the effect that at the close of business on the ninth day of November the amount of loans and discounts of the said banking association on which the officers and directors thereof were then liable, either as payer or endorser, was $45,000, whereas in truth the amount of such loans and discounts was $3,000,000, and another false entry to the effect that the amount of loans and discounts of the said association on which the officers and directors were not liable as payers or endorsers was $10,553,228, whereas in truth the amount of such loans and discounts on which officers and directors were not liable was much smaller; namely, $7,500,000.

Intent to Defraud.
Another section of the complaint alleges that Walsh had in his possession funds and money of the bank amounting to $3,000,000 with intent to injure and defraud the bank. The $3,000,000 mentioned in this section of the complaint is, however, identical with the amount specified as being loaned to officers of the bank.
It is further alleged that John R. Walsh and John M. Smyth and William Best, directors of the bank, and other persons, numerous to mention, unlawfully misapplied this money by converting it to the personal and private use of John R. Walsh without any proper authority whatsoever.

Orders From Washington.
The arrest of Mr. Walsh came as the direct result of the last examination of the books of the Chicago National bank made by Special Bank Examiner Arthur L. Curry, sent to Chicago from Washington. The data furnished to the treasury department in Washington was sent to District Attorney Morrison in this city, with instructions to make the proper steps.

Mr. Morrison early today swore to the complaint before United States Commissioner Foote, who issued a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Walsh and placed it in the hands of Deputy Marshal Middleton. Mr. Walsh was found in his office and placed under arrest, but friends of the ex-banker asked that the officer wait for a few hours before allowing the news of the arrest to become public because of some financial matters that might be affected.
This was granted and twice more the friends of Mr. Walsh asked and obtained a brief respite. A short time later, however, Deputy Marshal Middleton refused to wait for a longer time, and took Mr. Walsh to the office of United States Marshal Ames.

Arrest Kept Quiet.
All of the doors leading to the private office of Marshal Ames were locked, and all attaches of his office and those of District Attorney Morrison were instructed to say nothing concerning the arrest. Marshal Ames declared that, so far as he knew, nothing had been done in the Walsh matter, and District Attorney Morrison expressed himself in the same manner.

After remaining in the office of Marshal Ames for two hours Mr. Walsh was released under bond furnished by the Illinois Surety company.

"The charge, in effect, is that as president of the bank, I signed a report to the controller of the currency, which is now alleged, is false. The report in question would ordinarily have been signed by the cashier, but by reason of my temporary absence it was signed by me as a matter of course. The report referred to, however, was undoubtedly correct. These facts will be clearly established by the evidence in the case reached a state when evidence was produced, I believe, however, that a more thorough investigation of the facts by the department of justice and a comparison of the report with the books of the bank will convince the department of justice that its position is uncalled for and cannot be sustained.

"Any inference that might be drawn from the complaint that there has been any misappropriation of funds in any way is absolutely false."
The preliminary hearing of Mr. Walsh before United States Commissioner Foote was set for March 10, at 10 a. m.

WITNESS WOULD NOT TELL TRUTH

William Nelson Cromwell Declines to Answer Questions Asked by Senator Morgan.

LIVELY COLLOQUY ENSUES

LAW MAY BE EVOKED TO COMPEL REPLY.

Washington, March 2.—The letter from William Nelson Cromwell to the late Secretary of State Hay, under date of Dec. 5, 1905, was taken up by Senator Morgan today in the examination of Mr. Cromwell before the committee on inter-oceanic canals. The period covered by the letter was when the Panama Canal company was seeking a prolongation of its concessions on the isthmus. The letter referred to an inclosure and Mr. Cromwell repeatedly declined to state the nature of the inclosure or to discuss the correspondence in any manner. Extraordinary political conditions in Bogota were referred to in the letter and Mr. Morgan asked concerning this reference and, when the witness declined to discuss it, the senator asked whether the witness felt that he was obliged to conceal any actions that would be against the interests of the United States.

Refused to Answer.
"I refuse to answer such hypothetical and impertinent questions," said Mr. Cromwell.

"I am compelled by the attitude of this committee to accept your unusual and indecent replies," said Mr. Morgan.

"They are no more unusual or indecent than your questions," asserted the witness.
Senator Taliaferro interrupted, and demanded to know wherein the question was indecent, and witness said the indecency was in the assumption that he had been employed to do anything against the interests of the United States. Mr. Taliaferro then demanded that the witness be instructed not to make insulting replies to inquiries.

Chairman Millard said he thought the character of the reply by witness was uncalled for, and Senator Kittredge suggested that the questions be couched in different language.
"This is not the first time I have noticed an inclination on the part of the witness to insult his interrogators," said Mr. Taliaferro.

Entertained No Resentment.

The colloquy between the members of the committee was brought to a close by Mr. Morgan, who said he entertained no resentment to insults from the witness; that he had too much respect for that. He counseled his colleagues not to concern themselves in his behalf.

In resuming the examination Mr. Morgan had read the testimony of the secretary of the Panama canal company before the canal committee four years ago discussing the desire of the company to surrender the canal project to the United States. Mr. Cromwell refused to testify on this subject, taking shelter behind his professional relations to the company.

Pursued the Inquiry.

Mr. Morgan pursued the inquiry, asking the witness if he had not himself drawn the plan. Again the senator asked Mr. Cromwell if he had not shown this plan to a number of persons. Mr. Cromwell said he had outlined a different plan to the river and harbor committee of the house, but he refused to state the difference between the Lamore scheme and that submitted to the house committee. Mr. Taliaferro appealed to the chairman to know whether the witness could refer to the plan offered to the house committee and then refuse to explain its provisions on the ground that professional secrets were involved. Mr. Cromwell said the document would speak for itself. Mr. Taliaferro said that the witness should not dictate the manner in which the committee gets its information. After considerable discussion the witness outlined the house committee plan briefly.

May Be Compelled.

It was determined that the question of compelling the witness to answer should be considered by the committee at an executive session.

Throughout the examination of Mr. Cromwell, Mr. Morgan kept close to the civil war in Colombia, which was the forerunner of the organization of the Panama republic. He appeared to be trying to connect Mr. Cromwell with the internal disturbances of this South American republic.

Mr. Kittredge's objections disturbed this examination. At 12 o'clock a recess was taken until 2 p. m., to hear J. E. Markel of Omaha.

At the afternoon session J. E. Markel of Omaha was examined concerning the concealed contract he had with the canal commission to establish a commissary on the isthmus.

DOLAN IS A CANDIDATE.

Nominations for Officers of the United Mine Workers.

Pittsburg, March 2.—Nominations for officers of district No. 5, United Mine Workers, closed last night and the names of all candidates to be voted for at the special election on March 24 are now in the hands of Secretary Dodds. There are from five to eight candidates for each office and about two-thirds of the delegates to the recent convention have been nominated. Patrick Dolan's name appears among those suggested for the presidency, but he refused to take any part in the election and declined to be voted for by the head of the organization. The result what it may.

Vice President Uriah Bellingham and several members of the district board have taken the same stand and assert that they will not retire from office if defeated. It is not likely that anything further will be done until the present election, when the miners will ask the courts to remove the present officers.

The district officials claim that the new election is illegal and was ordered with a view of removing Dolan as the official head of the district.
The report that Patrick Dolan had been stricken with blindness is untrue. Mr. Dolan has overtaxed his eyes recently by night work and has been under special treatment, but there is said to be no danger of him losing his sight.
